Aramco Digital views it as a conflict of interest and improper business practice for current or former Aramco Digital employees to utilize any confidential or proprietary business, technical, or other information obtained while in the service of Aramco Digital to influence Aramco Digital's existing or proposed commercial transactions for the purpose of gaining a personal commercial advantage, benefitting any third party, or to otherwise damage Aramco Digital, whether during or after leaving employment by Aramco Digital.

All communications between Supplier and Aramco Digital shall, at all times, follow communication protocols as designated by Aramco Digital.

These monitoring activities may include on-site inspections of facilities, use of questionnaires, review of publicly available information, or other measures necessary to assess Supplier compliance with this Supplier Code of Conduct. Such monitoring activities may be performed in addition to any audit rights, which may be set forth in an agreement with Aramco Digital. A Supplier performance assessment will be used by Aramco Digital as a factor in the selection of bidders, the administration of contracts and procurements, or to possibly restrict Supplier access to new Aramco Digital business opportunities.

Based on the assessment of information made available to Aramco Digital, Aramco Digital reserves the right (in addition to all other legal and contractual rights) to disqualify any potential Supplier or to terminate any relationship with a current Supplier that Aramco Digital has found to be in violation of this Supplier Code of Conduct, without liability.

Confidentiality

As part of the process of seeking to provide goods, services, or personnel (including consultants) to Aramco Digital or in providing such goods, services, or personnel under the terms of an applicable agreement, Suppliers may gain access to information or material that Aramco Digital deems to be proprietary or confidential. Aramco Digital views breaches of confidentiality and unauthorized disclosure or use of proprietary or confidential information very seriously and reserves the right (in addition to all other legal and contractual rights) to disqualify any potential Supplier or to terminate any relationship with a current Supplier Aramco Digital has found to have violated its obligations of confidentiality. All advertising, press releases, or printed matter that reference Aramco Digital or a Supplier's relationship with Aramco Digital must be approved by the Aramco Digital Public Relations Department prior to publication or other use.

Application

This Supplier Code of Conduct is a general statement of Aramco Digital's expectations and requirements with respect to its Suppliers. This Supplier Code of Conduct should not be read in lieu of, but in addition to, any Supplier obligations set forth in a) requests for proposals, invitations to bid, or other solicitation documents, or b) agreements by and between Aramco Digital and the Supplier.
